WARD VILLAGE

Effortless Island Living

When we considered a future Ward Village, we insisted on building exceptional homes with modern interiors. We also envisioned a thriving neighborhood filled with energy and life. A place that provided small town comforts, as well as the conveniences of the city. We imagined a community of people walking tree-lined streets and enjoying exciting retail, ample green space and easy access to all of the beauty of Hawai'i. We also asked big questions: How do we create a place where residents can achieve greater balance in their lives, greater harmony with nature, and stronger connections to each other? In other words, how can we make life more effortless? Effortless living is more than making life easier. It's also about making the things we value most more easily integrated into our lives. We are proud to say that The Park Ward Village is the epitome of these ideals. What began as a spark of imagination, can now be realized in your daily life.

A City Like No Other,
on an Island Like No Other

Known as “The Gathering Place,” the island of O’ahu truly lives up to its name. There’s a rich history, a beautiful culture and a sophisticated city with its own unique air of laid-back luxury. Residents refer to Honolulu simply as “town,” a befitting nickname given the spirit of community and lack of pretense found here. It’s on this island that the best parts of paradise—more than 200 miles of coastline, the sparkling Pacific Ocean, two majestic mountain ranges—and a modern city by the sea exist in harmony.

The Neighborhood

Ward Village was built on the legacy of Victoria Ward and her family, the stewards of this land for more than a century. Her home was an extension of her love for nature, the outdoors and Hawaiian culture. It was her long term vision to establish the vast 100-acre estate as a gathering place, which has become our humble mission, to honor and give place to culture and community.

Today, residents and visitors alike are invited to stroll, shop, eat and play. This dynamic neighborhood is fresh, yet familiar. It's where urban and island life come together. The energy of the city and the tranquility of paradise are right outside your door. Just as Victoria Ward envisioned, Ward Village's 60 acres of land continue to serve as a respite between Downtown Honolulu and Waikīkī.

BEAUTIFULLY LANDSCAPED SIDEWALKS ALONG AUAHI STREET

For residents, it's clear why Ward Village was named "Best-Planned Community in the U.S." by Architectural Digest in 2017.

But Ward Village is also part of a larger community—the wonderfully unique city of Honolulu. So, in addition to the beautiful homes, parks, shops and services within Ward Village, residents are also enriched by all that Honolulu has to offer.

THE PARK WARD VILLAGE FROM AUahi STREET AND WARD AVENUE

Encompassing all four sides of the block at ground level, this will serve as the new town square of the neighborhood. You'll feel a distinct small-town vibe when each morning you're greeted by your favorite barista or bump into neighbors-turned-friends.

On any given night you can enjoy a meal alfresco or spend time at the beach, taking in another stunning sunset.

The Parks

Adjacent to Victoria Ward Park and just moments from Ala Moana Beach Park, The Park Ward Village is surrounded by nature. You'll find sanctuary in these wide-open green spaces and lush gardens, all there to restore balance to city life. Your new backyard is ideal for a leisurely stroll, a picnic, a workout, or really, whatever your heart desires. Find a comfortable spot to revel in the trade winds and let your mind wander as you relax under a monkeypod tree. Because when you live at the center of it all, you can spend more time doing what you love.

This stunningly sophisticated condominium was inspired by the principles of mid-century modern design, embracing and creating harmony between the interior spaces and natural outdoor scenes. The Park Ward Village's facade glistens in the sunshine, and the floor-to-ceiling windows welcome the beauty of the island into your home. The relationship between the building and the environment has been carefully designed, and as a result, your connection to your surroundings can be felt in your home and as you move throughout the building.

PRIVATE RESIDENTIAL ENTRY

“The building engages the lush Victoria Ward Park with landscaped terraces, blurring the line between natural and built. The sense of craft and strong horizontal forms of the building’s base transition into a dynamic and sculptural 39-story tower above. The structure folds inward towards the park, opening up to optimize the views to the ocean from each residence.”

– Francesco Mozzati, AIA, Associate Principal, Solomon Cordwell Buenz

A plant-lined entryway and reflective pond offer a warm and gracious welcome to residents and their guests day after day.

RESIDENTIAL ENTRY LOBBY

LOBBY LOOKING OUT TO AUAHI STREET

“We wanted to create an environment built as a natural continuation and celebration of the surroundings, one that reflects the quality of life that Hawai‘i residents enjoy each day. We infused brightness and peace to represent the warm sunlight and incorporated textures and materials that resonate with the feel of nature. We sought to deliver comfort and functionality through design that deeply connects the island atmosphere and lifestyle.”

AMENITY DECK AND PRIVATE BBQ CABANAS ADJACENT TO VICTORIA WARD PARK

“The Park Ward Village is a tale of two places. At street level, there’s a vibrant urban promenade bordering an oasis of lawn, coconut palms and cooling fountains. Above this is the private lānai with pools, fragrant tropical gardens, recreation amenities and secluded dining cabanas with views of the ocean and park, providing a welcome respite from the active street scene below. It’s this combination of activity and tranquility, of public life and private sanctuary, that make The Park a truly unique residential experience.”

- Don Vita, Principal, VITA Planning & Landscape Architecture, Inc.

Your Alfresco Retreat

At the Level 8 amenity deck, the best of the island is on display—the buzz of the city, the sparkling Pacific Ocean and the serenity of Victoria Ward Park. This expansive private lānai is a place for both activity and relaxation. It’s here, amongst the palms, where magic happens and memories are made.
